

PASS: Inclusion for Students With Behavior Disorders

Schools that have implemented PASS report that their students with ED/BD are experiencing academic and behavioral success in mainstream settings. As an added benefit, they are making significant reductions in the number of students placed in more restrictive environments as well as reductions in the number of office referrals and out-of-school suspensions.

They also report improved:

- Attendance
- Participation in inclusion
- Graduation rates

In the 2018–2019 school year, 70 PASS schools in 12 districts reported that:

- 87% of PASS students are passing their academic classes
- 85% of PASS students have a behavior mastery percentage of 85% or better
- 91% of site visits reported decreases in restraint and seclusion
